MEMORANDUM FOR: Colonel White

I thought you might want to see these weekly reports. The Medical report brings up a point I have been meaning to discuss with you in the past. New employees have a natural curiosity about the type of people up the chain of command who will be running their affairs. While, of course, you could not see everyone personally, I thought you might want to consider seeing people of a certain caliber, such as [REDACTED] who reported for duty with the Medical Office. I have been remiss in the past in failing to bring over lawyers at the time of their entry, but would like to feel free to do so in the event any more are added to my staff. You might want to say something at one of your staff meetings. I know you are trying to see arrivals and departures from overseas, and I believe you are having excellent results from this.
